Victoria Host To UBCM Next Year

By Colonist Staff Reporter
VANCOUVER—Victoria will be the host city for the 1954 Union of B.C. Municipalities convention.

An invitation from Reeve Joseph Casey speaking on behalf of the Vancouver Island Association of Municipalities which will sponsor the meeting was accepted unanimously by the delegates Friday afternoon.

Airlines in Tussle Over Kitimat Run

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two West Coast airlines appear headed for an all-out battle before the Air Transport Board over flying rights into booming Kitimat.

Pacific Western Airlines said Friday it will seek unrestricted schedule rights into the Kitimat district when it appears before the board here November 25. The rival Queen Charlotte Airlines has announced it will seek exclusive rights to carry passengers and freight into the area.

Russ Baker, PWA general manager, said the board's "restrictive" policies had cost his company $500,000 in two years.

Two Escape From Oakalla

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Police said Friday night that two men had escaped from Oakalla prison, and a search was started for them.

More Spent on Cars Than Schooling

'We Should Be Ashamed'

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Rhyas Sale, president of Ford of Canada, said Friday night in receiving an honorary degree of doctor of law that Canadians should be ashamed to spend "a great deal less" on education than they do on motor cars.

These six pensive-looking American cocker spaniels will be shown by Miss Dorothy Punderson, Elan Centre, near Duncan, at the championship show of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, to be held November 6 and 7 at Athletic Hall, Fraser Street, Esquimalt. Show highlight will be the first appearance of the Chinese crested dog. Many outstanding entries are expected. Judges will be Robert Waters of Haney B.C., and Mrs. A. W. Forbes of Tacoma.

Rebels Ambush Train

BERLIN (UP)—Refugees from East Germany reported Friday night that armed anti-Communist bands had killed three more people's policemen and ambushed a train guarded by Communist police.

Milk Strike Negotiators Finally Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri finally got milk strike negotiators to city hall Friday, threatening to lock them in until they settle a five-day walk-out.

He did not carry out the threat, however. The strike has cut off milk supplies to 12,000,000 persons in New York and northern New Jersey and the mayor angrily told reporters in early afternoon.

Chest Total Past $167,000

The Community Chest drive has gone over the $167,000 mark, Courtney Haddock, Chest chairman, said Friday. "We are anxious to see Victoria on top right across the Dominion in the Community Chest drive," he said.

Annual Ontario Refit Taken from Dockyard

The annual refit of the cruiser HMCS Dryad, usually carried out at HMCS Dockyard, was taken from the shipyard Friday afternoon.

Hubert Wallace, president of Yarrow, who returned from a trip to Ottawa Friday, disclaimed any connection between his trip and the work switch. He was unavailable for later comment Friday night.

One naval officer, who asked to remain unidentified, said he "cannot understand why the move was made," adding that "Dockyard has all the equipment needed to carry out the refit, and has done the job before."

The same officer said that much of the work already done on the Ontario is wasted because some of the machinery removed from the ship will have to be re-installed before it can be moved.

General Marshall Wins Nobel Prize

OSLO (AP)—The Nobel Peace Prize for 1953 was awarded Friday night to Gen. George C. Marshall, United States statesman who gave his name to the Marshall Plan.

Parley Called Monday

VANCOUVER (CP)—A full meeting of the more than 1,000 Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island electrical workers involved in a wage dispute with the B.C. Electric Co. has been called for Monday.

That was all that was revealed late Friday following a meeting between George Gee, business manager of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) and officials of the company.

Man Killed as Car Skids Off Highway

One man was killed and a woman passenger seriously injured when a late-model sedan skidded off the road of Ladysmith Friday afternoon.

Car Crashed 'Deliberately'

CALGARY (CP)—Police detective H. E. Barfoot woke early Friday to hear repeated crashes on the street in front of his home. He ran outside to find a man in a car "deliberately" driving into Barfoot's parked vehicle.

The detective fired three warning shots into the air, but the culprit didn't stay around. Det. Barfoot hastily reported the "wild man" to the police department.

Examination Results Announced

A pretty 22-year-old Victoria girl learned with delight Friday that she had earned the third-highest standing in the province in the examinations of the B.C. Registered Nurses' Association. (See also Page 10.)

She is Joyce Riecken, 10, Wildwood Avenue, who has wanted to be a nurse for "as long as I can remember."

A recent graduate after three years as a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital, the Saskatoon-born girl said she could hardly believe the news.

But senior nurses and officials at the hospital said they had no doubts that Miss Riecken would make a good student as well as being an outstanding nurse, said the sister superior.

Man Killed as Car Skids Off Highway

Rain, Slippery Pavements Cause Rash of Accidents

One man was killed and a woman passenger seriously injured when a late-model sedan skidded off the road of Ladysmith Friday afternoon.

Driving rain and greasy streets caused a rash of accidents in and around Victoria during the evening, giving police officers their busiest night so far this year.

Dead at Ladysmith is Arthur Jay Brouse, 30, of Alert Bay. Injured were W. Coull, about 25, driver of the car, who suffered abrasions and shock, and Irene Coull, his wife, who received fractured arms and legs.

Mr. and Mrs. Coull are from Campbell River. RCMP say the car, traveling south, skidded on the wet road way at the junction of Cassidy and North Oyster Roads, 3 1/2 miles north of Ladysmith.

The vehicle careened off the road and wrapped itself around a power pole, killing Mr. Brouse instantly.

Witnesses said the car was bent into a V-shape by the impact. Ambulance driver Joe Groulx, Jr., who took the injured to Ladysmith Hospital, described the car as "a total wreck."

Mr. Brouse was trapped between the half-opened door and the power pole.

Mr. Coull was treated and released from the hospital and Mrs. Coull is reported to be resting comfortably in satisfaction.

An inquest will open at Ladysmith at 7:30 p.m. Monday but will be adjourned after formal identification of the body.

Wet weather, slippery streets, and poor visibility were blamed for the large number of traffic mishaps which plagued the city Friday night.

On top of that, police say, street lights have not been turned on early enough. Two or three accidents, they say, might have been prevented had the lights been on.

A chain action caused more than $1,000 damage in five car pile-ups on Esquimalt Road shortly before 5 p.m. One man was injured.

Police said a Diamond Taxi driven by Charles William Gibson, 52 Sooke Road, was in collision with the rear of a car driven by Raymond Spinks, 1463 Finlayson.

This car smashed into the rear of one being driven by Alice Patricia Jerves, 1131 Lockley Road, whose car was bashed into another driven by Rowland Clare, 994 Jasmine Avenue, which in turn was shoved into the rear of the vehicle being driven by Jack Davey, 1437 Taunton Road.

Damage to all of the cars was termed "extensive."

A passenger in the taxi, William McD. Stewart, received face lacerations.

An elderly woman suffered a hip fracture in a collision with an automobile at Fort and Stanley at 5:45 p.m.

She was Mabel D. Webb, 73, who was crossing Fort at the time. Driver of the car was Richard K. Willis of 639 Mount Joy Avenue.

United Rebels Feared

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—Two outlawed republican armies seeking to smash Britain's hold on Scotland and Northern Ireland may have joined forces, police said Friday.

They said there is mounting evidence that the comparatively new Scottish Republican Army has thrown in its lot with the veteran Irish Republican Army for a joint campaign.

"The SRA has guns and ammunition," a police spokesman said. "It is a definite danger. We are watching every move it makes, and when the time is suitable, we will move."

Police officials here and in London declined speculation on the size of the two armies, but conceded they are both building up their forces through recruiting drives and raids on British armaments.

The IRA, which fought British troops during and after the First World War, is pledged to wrest Northern Ireland from Britain and bring it into the Irish Republic.

Existence of the SRA—denounced by moderate Scottish Nationalists—has been reported only in the last year. It aims at complete self-government for Scotland.

At the time of the Coronation, the Scottish republicans bombed stores and mail boxes and sent threatening letters to public figures.

Victoria Girl Third Among Nurses

A pretty 22-year-old Victoria girl learned with delight Friday that she had earned the third-highest standing in the province in the examinations of the B.C. Registered Nurses' Association. (See also Page 10.)

She is Joyce Riecken, 10, Wildwood Avenue, who has wanted to be a nurse for "as long as I can remember."

A recent graduate after three years as a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital, the Saskatoon-born girl said she could hardly believe the news.

But senior nurses and officials at the hospital said they had no doubts that Miss Riecken would make a good student as well as being an outstanding nurse, said the sister superior.

The happy fledgling RN intends to try out her wings eventually in the field of pediatric child nursing.

"I'm going to work hard for a year," she said, "and put some money by—student nurses don't get very much, you know."

"Then I'd like to go to the Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and do post-graduate work next September."

Miss Riecken lives at home with her mother, Mrs. J. N. Riecken and three sisters, Jacqueline, 15, Valerie, 13, and Sandra, 6.

Jacqueline is following in big sister's footsteps as a second-year student nurse at St. Joseph's.

Although Valerie doesn't know what she wants to be, she has apparently seen enough of nurses around the house, because she said, "I sure don't want to be a nurse." She little Sandra hasn't thought about her future yet, but she follows her eldest sister around constantly.

An extra pleasant surprise was in store for the girl who says "nursing is the only career for a girl."

With G. E. Mortimore

MAILBAG: Somebody loves the radio stations, anyway. Recently I criticized one station for using American pronunciations and for letting a man yell "Hey, what time is it?" in a boorish way. I also objected to Foster Hewitt endorsing cigarette ads.

Now two defenders of the radio stations have written angry letters. One of them is a radio announcer. The other is Miss Gladys Kensington, 2119 Oak Bay Avenue.

"When I read your two columns on radio stations, all my good red English blood rose up in defense of our radio-announcers and stations," Miss Kensington writes.

She doesn't see anything wrong with the call of "Hey! What time is it?"

"It is just radio, and radio has to cater to all kinds of different temperaments. To lots of people 'Hey! What time is it?' is the way they would naturally call to a co-worker."

Radio does a great deal for the public, she says. It gives people the news when newspapers are observing a holiday. The stations "break in on any program to help look for a lost child or get relatives to hospital in time to see their loved ones who have been hurt in accidents. They help look for lost pets, purses or keys. Tired announcers at the end of a long day keep cheerful, courteous and... helpful."

"I always remember my doctor saying to me (when I was in hospital for a long spell), 'Radios in hospitals do more good than a lot of medicines, they keep the patient's mind off his aches and pains, and keep them in touch with the outside world.'"

It angers Miss Kensington to hear people criticize the radio for small matters like pronunciation, and say nothing of its useful services.

"God bless our radio announcers and stations and give them strength to put up with the selfish, fault-finding public it is their lot in life to serve."

Many people will join in that prayer, adding only the request that the public also be given strength to put up with the radio stations. Certainly radio stations do some useful services.

But why can't they be useful and also pronounce their words correctly?

A previous letter from a reader objected to the American pronunciation "loo-tenant" being used here. I agreed with the reader.

Now one Hugh Curtis, a radio announcer, writes that the "lu" pronunciation is correct in the navy. I'm afraid he has us in a corner. The Oxford Dictionary, the standard English work, sanctions only "ler" in its 1933 edition, the latest I can lay my hands on at the moment.

But Webster (the standard American dictionary) and "An English Pronouncing Dictionary," published by J. M. Dent of London, sanctions "lu" for British usage in the navy. All right, Curtis, you have us.

The only trouble is that the radio station doesn't use this pronunciation for the navy alone. I have also heard announcers here talking about "lootenants" in the army and "flight-lootenants" in the air force.

Some other pronunciations I have heard on the Victoria radio: "kway" for "quay"; "Portsmouth"; "Inquiry"; and "da-TAILS" (for details).

Brig.-Gen. J. G. Austin, 100 St. Charles Street, writes to pay tribute to S. H. Okell, who has just retired as assistant district administrator, DVA. Mr. Okell was the subject of a Colonist magazine article.

"It is his due that the public should be told something of what he has done for the down-and-out old soldier," writes Brig.-Gen. Austin, who was president of the Red Cross.

"It was almost entirely due to him that the Red Cross workshop kept going as long as it did... He felt, as did all of us, that it was not so much the few dollars it brought in as the feeling that the veteran still was not utterly useless, and thus kept his self-respect. A grand fellow."

"There is another man whom I should like to mention with him: Mr. Fred Jones. If Okell worked like a tiger, Mr. Jones worked like a menagerie of them. Many an old soldier who would have eked out his few remaining years in boredom and perhaps ill health has reason to bless their names."

Investiture To Honor Mrs. Wallace

Mrs. Charlotte Hazel Wallace, wife of British Columbia's lieutenant-governor, will be invested as a Dame of Grace of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, at ceremonies in Ottawa Monday.

Sixty-seven members of the order are expected to attend the formal investiture at Government House.

Invitations have been sent to 149 members to be invested in their grade by Governor-General Vincent Massey, who is prior of the order in Canada.

Not all are able to attend. They include two Knights of Grace, Lieut.-Gov. John James Bowlen of Alberta and C. L. Burton of Toronto, and one Dame of Grace, Mrs. Wallace of Victoria.

Communist Improvements in China Noted

The Communists have improved many things in China, Major Burton Pedlar, Salvation Army evangelist, said in Victoria Friday.

Major Pedlar and his wife lived in Canton, China, for a year and one-half under the Communist regime.

They lived in China for five years from 1947 to 1952 and were in Canton when the Communists took over there in October, 1952.

Major Pedlar found the development of the Communist program interesting to watch.

"They improved many things such as transportation and national health rules," he said.

"They got clinics for the poor and tried to educate some of the masses. It was a schooling, but it was also a Communist education," he said.

Some of the Chinese took to "communism and some of them didn't," he said.

Communists take to the youth,

he said. "They educate the young."

"People over 25, they don't try to influence very much," he said. "They figure their minds are a bit too set."

Communists stabilized currency so one could count on it being the same value from one day to another, he said.

Major Pedlar and his wife were never imprisoned in China. The Communists came out with a program that the church must be self-supporting, self-propagating and self-educating.

They didn't stop the church, he said.

Money came through the bank all the time they were there and the Communists gave them a stipulated time as to when the change would take place and money would stop coming into China.

It took Major Pedlar and his wife three months to get an exit visa to leave the country.

As long as they kept within the boundary of new laws they were allowed to carry on with their meetings in halls, but no street meetings were allowed.

They are accompanied by a team of accomplished musicians, who assist at the evangelistic meetings nightly in the Salvation Army Citadel.

There are still Salvation Army men and women working in China now, he said, but they have no connection with the international movement.

The Pedlars still have many friends in Canton.

Maj. MacNeill Due Today In Victoria

Mr. Justice H. S. Wood in Assize Court Friday remanded Thomas Robinson, 18, on a charge of attempted rape October 14.

Robinson, who pleaded guilty, was remanded to Oakalla prison until his trial November 30 at Vancouver.

A Korean war veteran, Major C. E. C. MacNeill, PPCL, 1854 Crescent Road, arrived in Vancouver Friday and was met by his English war-bride of the Second World War.

He will arrive in Victoria on the afternoon boat today.

Garden Notes

Problems Develop In Rock Gardens

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Among the many duties that fall to the lot of the keen gardener at this season of the year is the all-important work of overhauling the rock garden. Newly constructed rock gardens won't require much attention but those which have been established for some time require quite a bit of fall care, if they are to put on a good display next year.

One of the first things to be done is to correct any overcrowding that has taken place. During the past summer, some of the more rampant plants will have over-run the more delicate and choicer species.

Such plants should be lifted carefully, with a good ball of soil, and moved to a pocket where the rock walls will confine their over-exuberant habits.

Weeds are always a serious problem in a rock garden, and there are no short-cut methods of controlling them—they must be taken out by hand.

MUST GET ALL ROOTS

With perennial weeds, it is necessary to get out every bit of root, and when such weeds have entangled themselves with an alpine plant, the whole clump should be lifted, the soil carefully shaken from the roots, and the weed roots carefully detached with a little disturbance as possible to the alpine.

Planted back firmly, and watered in with a little vitamin B1 in the water to help overcome transplanting shock, the alpine will establish itself and be none the worse for the disturbance.

Plants in long-established pockets, will, in some instances, have become overcrowded, and should be lifted and divided, after first replenishing the pockets with the correct soil mixture for that particular variety. The sooner this is done, the better, as the soil warmth won't last much longer.

Some plants, usually those of ruffled habit, will have grown to such an extent that their crowns are now too high above the soil surface. To remedy this, they should be mulched with suitable material—limestone chips for the lime-lovers, and a mixture of peat moss and sand for the acid-loving plants.

It is important, too, to remove fallen leaves, and all dead and decaying foliage, for these tend to suffocate the plants, and provide convenient hide-aways for slugs and snails. It is a good idea to strew a few bug-gellets under the foliage of the plants, to tempt them to their destruction.

SOME BOULDER SINK

With a recently constructed rock garden, it is more than likely that some of the boulders will have sunk below their original position. These should be levered up, and the bases made firm by inserting flat pieces of stone beneath them.

When carrying out this work, it is important to keep the grain of the stone running in the same plane as the rest of the rocks, and to place each stone so that it slopes backwards, channelling the surface water to the roots of the plant in the pocket behind it.

With a recently constructed rock garden, it is more than likely that some of the boulders will have sunk below their original position. These should be levered up, and the bases made firm by inserting flat pieces of stone beneath them.

When carrying out this work, it is important to keep the grain of the stone running in the same plane as the rest of the rocks, and to place each stone so that it slopes backwards, channelling the surface water to the roots of the plant in the pocket behind it.

Plants in long-established pockets, will, in some instances, have become overcrowded, and should be lifted and divided, after first replenishing the pockets with the correct soil mixture for that particular variety. The sooner this is done, the better, as the soil warmth won't last much longer.

Some plants, usually those of ruffled habit, will have grown to such an extent that their crowns are now too high above the soil surface. To remedy this, they should be mulched with suitable material—limestone chips for the lime-lovers, and a mixture of peat moss and sand for the acid-loving plants.

It is important, too, to remove fallen leaves, and all dead and decaying foliage, for these tend to suffocate the plants, and provide convenient hide-aways for slugs and snails. It is a good idea to strew a few bug-gellets under the foliage of the plants, to tempt them to their destruction.

Webster Attacks Highway Authority

VANCOUVER (CP)—Arnold Webster, CCF opposition leader in the British Columbia legislature, has termed the province's new highway and bridge authority a Social Credit "financial manoeuvre."

The CCF leader said in a new authority was what he called an attempt to distort the provincial budget by eliminating highway construction debts from budgetary reports.

"This is one way of attaining an illusion of a balanced budget," he said. "Although the government accounts will not show highway construction debts, the new authority will be under complete control of the cabinet."

The new body, set up as a crown corporation, will have power to borrow up to $20,000,000 for construction of highways and bridges, to be paid for from toll collections.

"The authority has $20,000,000 to spend to build roads anywhere it pleases without con-

Steak Carved To 34 Cents In Price War

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—The "steak war" continued Friday as two Fort William grocery stores made further price slashes on all types of meats.

"We'll go as low as the lowest," said Ben Matson, manager of the new Shop-Easy store which fired the first shot with an opening-day sale Thursday.

The manager of the competing Safeway store across the street wouldn't comment, but continued cutting his prices Friday.

Steaks were selling at 34 cents a pound in both stores Friday morning, compared with the normal price of 78 cents. Customers lined up at both stores long before they were open for business.

France Trade Barrier

PARIS (Reuters)—Western Europe Friday night admitted its inability at present to scrap age-old trade barriers but pledged to work for that goal in the coming year.

The admission came in a resolution approved after a two-day session here of the International Organization for European Economic Cooperation. It singled out France as the barrier to further liberalization of trade.

Four conditions must be met before the trade barriers between member nations are torn down, the resolution said. They are:

1. Agreement on a suitable multilateral system of payments from next July 1.
 2. An end to the marked inequality of trade liberalization methods taken by OEEC nations.
 3. France's compliance with the OEEC liberalization code which provides for an end of import restrictions covering 75 per cent of the whole range of imported goods.
 4. A tightening-up of escape clauses in the code.
- On Thursday France announced her intention to increase liberalization of imports from 8 to 20 per cent. She was told in report back to OEEC before next March 1 on steps to obey the code.

Gamma Globulin Supply Needs More Blood Donors

MONTREAL (CP)—A national appeal for donors to supply additional blood for the production of gamma globulin—to be used in the fight against poliomyelitis—was launched Friday night by Vernon C. Hale, chairman of the national blood donor committee of the Canadian Red Cross.

Gamma globulin is believed to be effective in the prevention or lessening severity of paralysis in polio.

Mr. Hale said the Red Cross has entered into an agreement with the department of national health and welfare to provide blood for fractionating gamma globulin.

Doctors say about one dose of gamma globulin is obtained from each bottle of donated blood. Officials estimate more than 150,000 new donations annually will be required for gamma globulin production in Canada.

Canada Attracts Interest

TORONTO (CP)—Even Russian troops in Europe are interested in Canada—the administrator of the Canadian International Trade Fair said Friday.

Reporting at a press conference on a two-month trade tour of Europe, Charles C. Hoffman said "the doors were wide open" to him as a Canadian.

Canadian government prestige booths in European fairs attracted crowds. "They would grab anything they could get their hands on—a map, a pamphlet—as long as it was Canadian."

He said he found presidents and managers of companies talking about coming to live here.

U.S. Names Five Unions As Red-Led

WASHINGTON (CP)—Five Canadian unions were named as Communist-dominated in a report Friday by a Senate foreign relations sub-committee.

The report said that since the exposure of the Soviet spy ring in 1946, the strength of the Labor-Progressive party, Canada's Communist party, has declined in national, provincial and municipal elections.

"Canadian Communists are extremely active, however, among the foreign-language groups," it added.

"They have also extensively organized 'cultural' front organizations and continue to be active in a number of unions in the strategic electronics, shipbuilding and mining-milling-smelting industries."

"The three chief Communist-dominated unions are the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and the International Fur and Leather Workers, all of which have been expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor."

"The Maritime Shipbuilding Workers' Federation on the Atlantic Coast and the Vancouver Marine and Boilermakers' Union on the Pacific Coast are also Communist-led, but as yet have not been expelled from their respective national federations."

Oddities

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Mrs. M. Cairns isn't mad at Bunty the blackbird any more she figures she's got compensation for the mess Bunty made of the Cairns' mail box.

Bunty chose the box for her nest. As fast as the postman put letters in, she tossed them out. Just as Mrs. Cairns was going to take eviction proceedings "the blackbird came down out of a tree and dropped something at my feet—a 10-shilling note."

With the rent paid by her gleanings, Bunty can nest undisturbed.

TORONTO (RUP)—The Royal Canadian Navy is providing a new slant on Canadian history.

According to Rear Admiral H. E. Pullen, General Wolfe didn't capture Canada. It was a navy man who did the job—Admiral Saunders by name.

Pullen admits this interpretation of history is not familiar to most Canadians. But he says there were twice as many sailors as soldiers at the scene when the British took Canada from France.

Pullen told the Toronto Navy League of Canada that General Wolfe was only the leader of a landing party—which was transported across the sea and put ashore by the British fleet.

He adds that they were guided to the cove, where they sealed the heights, by a navy lieutenant.

New driver comfort

Handsome new styling

• Built to earn more money for you, the 1954 FARGO Trucks are completely new. They offer a remarkable combination of power—economy—capacity—efficiency—and driver comfort for your delivery or hauling jobs. The new FARGO design is low and massive, with a low centre of gravity, road hugging stability—and the shortest attainable turning radius, right and left. See for yourself how far ahead these new FARGO models are in the features that mean most to you.

FARGO cabs are the ideal in driver comfort. Floors and running boards are lower—doors higher and wider. Window sills are lower. Roomy 3-man seats are chair-high, with full luxury-type seat cushions. Cabs are insulated from vibration and sound—with exceptional convenience features, including wing and cowl ventilators and big one-piece curved windshield for wide-angle vision.

For a Sane Halloween

TONIGHT is the night when the ghosts walk; very human spooks in search of a little fun. Where it is kept to fun everybody benefits. Laughter never yet hurt anyone, and the traditional observance of Halloween is broad enough in scope to permit a good deal of pleasure and enjoyment without any harm. Oak Bay is again in the van of the municipalities with its special Halloween bonfire and party, and several other areas are following suit. City police have kept the sale of fireworks within reasonable limits, and enjoined their sincere cautions in that. There is no reason why the festivity should be other than the occasion for a little innocent merriment.

Properly understood, Halloween is mainly a family affair, and not one for the public streets. Parties and games and feasts at which the youngest citizens will be entertained are in the oldest and best tradition of the event. Ghosts walk, no doubt, but usually very little ghosts and with extremely musical chuckles. Some sprites, but only the smallest ones perhaps, have been known to frighten themselves in the process. But there should be no room in the evening for ill will, and least of all for any desire to hurt. Old folks have ghosts enough of their own perhaps, without new visitations. The door-to-door begging in waves has no real part in a proper Halloween. Fun is the real test.

For older ghosts, including those of the adolescent and maturer ages, the same test should apply. Throwing fire crackers in peoples' faces, breaking down fences, damaging property, tossing lighted squibs into moving vehicles could only appeal to the very, very feeble minded. A safe and sane Halloween around the bonfires and elsewhere can be great fun for everybody, and work hardship on no one. Let us unite to keep it so.

Liquor Reform Criteria

MUCH of the success of the new liquor act, Attorney-General Bonner is quoted as telling municipal delegates in Vancouver, will depend on the degree to which outlet operators assume responsibility for the character of their establishments. This is a criterion of the liquor reform under way and it should be a first charge on the new liquor commission to see that operators maintain the desired standard. It should be a case not merely of selling alcoholic beverages for the sake of profit alone, but also of rendering a public service in keeping with the object of establishing sane and socially acceptable drinking habits. Both government and operators alike will have to keep this point well in mind.

Mr. Bonner was correct in describing the 1952 plebiscite as an ambiguous question, and to the government's credit it has made the best of the legacy bequeathed by the blanket public answer—all that the voters could possibly give—by framing an acceptable liquor act, marred only by the unexpected and unjustified tax levy that increases a government revenue from this source that is already of large proportions. Another blot may appear if the problem of local option is mismanaged.

Nothing definite on this aspect of the new liquor administration's policy has yet emerged, although one might have thought it would be settled by this time, but the attorney-general did drop a hint that license areas might in the larger centres approximate the boundaries of voting constituencies. This would appear to be at least a good starting point. The City of Victoria, for instance, can scarcely be cut up into liquor wards, nor is its physical extent too large to be dealt with as one licensing area. Invidious discrimination might follow any attempt to balkanize the city, and local option privileges, which must be respected in view of the large minority vote, would be amply protected by designation of the city as one licensing area.

Unlighted Bicycles

NOW that the evenings are drawing in and driving conditions deteriorating generally, the city and suburban police should be strict in enforcing the by-laws requiring lights to be displayed on bicycles. Even when policemen are in view, it is astonishing the number of bicycles that are to be seen on the streets without lights of any kind, not only at dusk but also long after dark. This neglect puts the riders themselves in constant danger, especially in early evening when traffic is heaviest. It also puts car drivers at an unfair disadvantage, for it usually goes hard with the motorist who knocks someone down, regardless of the circumstances.

Except in cases of repeated disobedience, it is not necessary for the police to issue summonses right and left to make youthful cyclists toe the line. In matters of this sort the fatherly-type policeman can often get better results with a few quiet warnings, letting offenders see that an eye is being kept out for them. Leniency, however, should never go the length of turning a blind eye, because if young people once get the idea that no one pays any official attention to the absence of lights on their bicycles they are not likely to bother about protecting themselves.

It is up to parents in the first instance to see that the by-laws are obeyed. Children may ride off to school in broad daylight, but after-school activities often keep them out until darkness has fallen. It is the parents' duty to see that their bicycles are properly equipped if they are likely to be late home. Any boy who takes the risk of riding along a dark, wet street without a light should feel the firm hand of home discipline. It may save his life.

GULF ISLAND FERRIES

Sir,—I was pleased to note in The Colonist of October 24 that the Chamber of Commerce's harbor development group are anxious that a fast, convenient and reasonable ferry service be put into operation to the Mainland. The time is overdue for such a service. Swartz Bay, located at the tip of the Saanich peninsula, would be an ideal spot as a terminus for a ferry to Vancouver and its possibilities should be looked into.

While Sidney has been used as a terminus in the past, it is often difficult to land there in rough weather, while Swartz Bay is sheltered and also located nearer the Canadian mainland. I am told the distance from Swartz Bay is about the same to Vancouver as from Nanaimo to Vancouver.

There is a move on foot to have an inter-island ferry serve the Gulf Islands from Swartz Bay and which together with the Salt Spring Island ferry docking there, would serve to concentrate the travel between the mainland and Vancouver Island. Duncan district, south with the facilities of the Mill Bay ferry, may also find a ferry connection at Swartz Bay very convenient.

PATRICIA BAY HIGHWAY

Sir,—As one who drives the new Patricia Bay Highway almost daily I sincerely endorse the editorial "Dangerous Highway."

In its present condition this highway is nothing short of a death trap. The blacktop, although much too narrow, is in nice condition and encourages speeds in excess of the speed limit, this however is not the real danger. The real danger is the depth of loose gravel on both sides of the blacktop surface. A driver's attention momentarily diverted by conversation, lighting a cigarette, jocular behavior in the back seat, and the front wheel runs off the edge of the hard surface into six inches of loose gravel, the car is out of control, the steering wheel jerked and the car goes careening into the ditch or across the highway.

I have seen this happen several times in the past few months. Anyone who drives this highway has seen the deep gouges in the gravel and burnt skid marks across the hard surface caused by drivers frantically applying brakes in a desperate attempt to gain control.

At election times we hear lots of lip service to progress, good government, sane and sensible approach to our many problems, etc., well, it's about time we had some sanity and progress applied to our highways.

With the ever-increasing number of vehicles on the road, the increasing power and speed, we must, if we are to avoid many more serious and fatal accidents, have adequate highways.

The most urgent requirements along this line in the Greater Victoria area, as I see it, is a four-lane highway to Patricia Bay and the same for at least the first 10 miles on both the old and the new Island Highways.

W. READER,
556 Island Highway, R.R. 1, Victoria, B.C.

TODDLERS ON STREET

Sir,—I should like to commend the drivers of cars and trucks whose patience must have been sorely tried these past few months by a pair of tiny children who have chosen the intersection where Richmond Avenue and Birch Street join Fort Street to play most mornings between 8 o'clock and 9 o'clock when traffic is heavy.

These infants may be seen calmly pedalling their tricycles and trailer in the middle of the street entirely innocent of the grave danger they are in. Some of these drivers have been seen to leave their vehicles and escort the children to safety, no doubt thankful that they had not been forced to witness a terrible accident.

Perhaps these few lines will catch the eye of their guardians.

Sea Monsters

By FRANK KELLEY

SHOULD someone chance to tell you he has seen Caddy in Vancouver Island waters, why question the statement? Why try to convince him "there ain't any such animal," even in the deepest sea, growing in the same shape as a land reptile. I am not going to state there is, never having seen one. It might start a verbal ruckus, the last thing desired.

Long ago now it fell to my lot to hear some personal reports by folk who had evidently been favored with a sight of Caddy at a time when it wouldn't have been nice to display any measure of levity or express any doubt. All were so sure of it, having seen it with their very own eyes, one just couldn't, even if so inclined, try to convince them otherwise.

It was a happy selection that name, tendered by R. L. Pocock, one-time telegraph editor of The Colonist: Cadborosaurus—Cadboro from the bay of the same name, where it was first seen displaying itself on the sun-washed shore, and saurus from the long line of saurians. Among those claiming a first-hand view was Captain Kurt Zastrow, of the Grace Line ship Santa Rosa, on the bridge when his vessel alighted through the Strait off Beachy Head. "A great thing surfaced some distance ahead," he reported later. "You wouldn't believe how big I thought it was. Would have liked to run into it (laughed); but it went out of sight before we caught up with it."

There's probably nothing new that can be said about sea serpents. The stories are as old as the sea itself. There is nothing new regarding them in any old-time village of the Vancouver Island coast. I'll gamble the searcher through back pages of The Colonist will find more than one first-hand narrative of what terrified natives told around the lodge fires in other days.

It was from native employees of his clam cannery at Winter Harbor that the late J. L. Leeson would hear of striking phases of life along the Island's west coast long ago. In retirement he had a great fund of them to tell when in the humor. Hardy Bay was another stopping place, where storekeeper Lyon held forth occasionally recounting odd sights seen by braves from Fort Rupert way. Once I heard him talking about some "great snakes."

Port Alberni also had its visitation—maybe again; who can tell? One summer 20-odd years ago, I dropped in to see Dick Burde, publisher of the Port Alberni News. It was about the time Caddy was getting some publicity hereabouts, and a writer for the News was putting together something he had heard from an old-timer about things that come out of water unexpectedly and heard something about it.

It seems that once upon a time two natives were crossing Sprout Lake in a canoe when they saw a huge object swimming in the water a short distance away. Eager to see what it was they paddled hurriedly in its direction, when it disappeared. As it did so it flashed upon the natives that whatever it was they had frightened it, driving it under water to seek help. They guessed right; for in a very short time there was a churning of water and a number of marine creatures appeared on the surface—whales, sea-lions, the monster itself, and maybe some others. Then they could see the monster had a head like an Indian, looking very ferocious to the trembling braves as they forgot their curiosity, paddled hastily toward shore, pulled the canoe high up, turned it upside down and hid under it for four days, watching the monster and its companions furiously. When all vanished they returned to their camp. That was the story of Opticsahts and a big sea monster.

They run together.

Reports From New York

A FEW days here are enough to convince one who wasn't already so convinced that Canada is the most favored nation on the North American continent. And that means in the world.

It's flattering but not surprising to hear prominent Britons say, as the aircraft designer, Sir William Farnan, said to me recently, that if they were 20 years younger they'd emigrate to Canada.

But to have successful Americans say the same thing, and obviously mean it, is a commentary on the new American awareness of the strength and wealth of Canada.

Maybe one reason they say it is that they are successful. Usually they're convinced private enterprises in a country which, while it makes a god of private enterprise, is no longer the land of opportunity it once was for the man whose chief assets are ability, determination and a liking for work.

A hundred thousand Americans and three billion American dollars have emigrated to Canada since the Second World War in the belief that more and more Canada is such a land.

As the only kingdom still surviving in a part of the world where the republic is the dominant form of political organization, Canada formerly was regarded by many Americans as an anachronism, an anomaly, even a freak.

The people here, almost knee-deep in government scandals—in my time, all the way from Teapot Dome to Governor Dewey's current race-track irregularities—look wonderingly at our system of government. The reason: it hasn't produced a scandal in a decade more serious than the theft of a few thousand dollars worth of scrap by a half-dozen soldiers at Camp Petawawa, or dealings from the bottom of the deck by a handful of immigration department clerks. Finance Minister Abbott's perennial surpluses while Washington turned up only deficits have made a deep impression. So have our foreign aid program, our system of justice, our refusal to become hysterical about domestic Communists.

McCarthyism fortunately has proven a non-exportable American commodity. How fortunately I fully realized only when I talked with people here living in fear that they too may be smeared by implication and association.

So far the noticeable appreciation of Canada's expanded role in the realms of industry, finance, international affairs and the arts is pretty well limited to the more intelligent Americans.

The recent concert of Canadian music at Carnegie Hall, for example, got practically rave notices in the New York Herald Tribune and the Times, but the mass circulation papers like the News and Mirror couldn't have cared less.

Vice-President Robert J. Burton of Broadcast Music Inc., the company which arranged the concert, drew a moral from the concert's success.

"Maybe it'll help you Canadians get over your inferiority complex," he told me. "It proves that in music anyway you've no reason to have one."

Foreign Minister Pearson made the same point in a speech at Winnipeg Saturday night, when he appealed to Canadians to throw away the remnants of colonial inferiority, timidity and hesitation, and strengthen their pride and confidence in Canada.

Which is good advice, whether from an American businessman or a Canadian politician.

Freedom Not to Vote

(From The Toronto Telegram)

THE suggestion that voting in elections should be compulsory, with penalties for non-compliance, is open to several objections.

The first is that coercion, by which totalitarian governments survive, is contrary to our notions of liberty and should be avoided as far as possible. In democracies the aim is to get the fullest possible expression of the people's free will. In dictatorships it is to present merely the appearance of full expression of the people's will, and where there is coercion the will is not free.

In a free country the right to vote carries with it the right to refrain from voting. This right is allowed in democratic parliaments and in the United Nations. It should be allowed to a citizen who does not feel he knows enough about the issues or the candidates to make an intelligent choice, and who is unwilling to make an unintelligent choice.

Compulsion would not necessarily attain the end desired, for while voters might be driven to the polls, they could not be prevented from spoiling their ballots. An intelligent elector, forced to enter the polling booth by fear of penalties, might well decide to spoil his ballot rather than make a choice that was founded neither on knowledge nor on reason.

If the people are keenly interested in the issues of a campaign they will vote in large numbers and the result will mean something. The way to interest them is to keep them at all times well informed and to present the issues clearly. If there are any who cannot be interested by these methods their vote will be worth nothing and coercion will benefit nobody.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A woman taxpayer has filed a return showing an income running into seven figures. No details are released as to how she earned it, though one assumption is that it was from baby-sitting.

Next to hitting a power pole nothing can make your car look worse than the pictures of next year's models.

A merry party was going on in a hotel room when the festivities were interrupted by an attendant who said: "Gentlemen, I've been sent to ask you to make less noise. The guest in the next room says he can't read."

"Can't read?" replied the host. "Well tell him he ought to be ashamed of himself. Why I could read when I was five."

On the Record...

War of Psychology

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

IN East Berlin last summer I conversed with a young woman some members of whose family I had known in pre-Hitler days. She was a student in the Communist zone's University of Berlin. We lunched together in a restaurant.

I asked about the political attitude of students. "There are three groups. The Communists, the pro-Westerners, and those who don't know where they stand. The Communist group is large and fanatical. They won't change. The pro-Westerners are few, mostly with strong religious backgrounds. Some of these change. I think their family influences aren't strong enough to offset social pressures. The third group is the largest."

"Where do you stand?" "In the third group. I don't know what to believe. My family were free thinkers. Their only religion was the search for truth. But what is truth? I read the Communist newspapers and even the facts they report are seldom accurate. But I don't believe what I read in the Western papers either."

"I would like to believe that somewhere somebody is telling the truth regardless of sides. But I don't."

"What are you studying?" I asked. "Science. I wanted to be a journalist but the news stories and editorial subjects we were assigned were always to prove or illustrate something that was or wasn't or maybe might be so. No one encouraged us to investigate. They told us the facts and we had to prove they were right."

"I have been a journalist for 30 years and nobody ever, not once, told me what I should write," I remarked.

She looked incredulous. "That is hard to believe. Did your correspondents write everything they were able to find by free investigation—everything important? Before the war was over did they write about the conduct of Russian troops—or American—exactly how it was? Did we Germans do everything evil they attributed to us and nothing good they overlooked?"

"There is always censorship in war," I commented.

"In war," she countered, "the writer is an instrument of war. But now there is always war, cold war, class war, psychological war. So there is no objectivity. That's why I wouldn't want to be a journalist."

"Suppose," I said, "you could change this government—what would you do?"

"That's a silly question." "Everyone can suppose," I persisted. "Assume for purposes of research into your own mind that you had the power. Would you, for instance, change the economic system?"

"I don't know much about economics." Then, after a pause: "I would forbid anybody to propagandize anyone else about anything." She suddenly cried, as though in pain. "It isn't force that drives one crazy. It's that nobody nowadays can ever think for himself. Listen to the radio—East or West. Every fact only to prove a thesis—to make you take sides. There must be something else in the world other than the two sides!"

Her voice, which had been low, suddenly rose. "The coffee is quite good, isn't it? Have you seen the art exhibition? It's worth a visit!"

Her eyes turned toward two people at the next table who sat silent, apparently trying to overhear us. "I think we should go before it closes for the day."

"You think we should," I noted silently. "That is what thinking has become here, and who knows how long only here. An elementary reaction keyed to survival, according to assessment of power."

I recall this conversation in connection with the "explanation teams" working on Korean prisoners of war.

With the Classics

SONNET

When, in disgrace with Fortune and men's eyes,
I all alone beweep my outcast state,
And trouble deaf heaven with my bootless cries,
And look upon myself and curse my fate,

Wishing me like to one more rich in hope,
Featur'd like him, like him with friends possess'd,
Desiring this man's art and that man's scope,
With what I most enjoy contented best;

Yet in these thoughts myself almost despising,
Haply I think on thee, and then my state,

Like to the lark at break of day arising
From sullen earth, sings hymns at heaven's gate;

For thy sweet love rememb'red, such wealth brings
That then I scorn to change my state with kings.

—Shakespeare.

U.S. Senate Cites Figures On World Total of Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Communist party has about 24,000,000 active members in Russia and other foreign countries but controls 800,000,000 people, the Senate foreign relations committee reported today.

In a detailed review, the committee found some evidence of party strength in the countries in three others—Libya, Saudi Arabia and Yemen—it found no evidence of Communist activity.

Committee chairman Alexander Wiley (R, Wis.), in a foreword, warned against what he called the "fallacy of numbers" in weighing Red world strength.

He said the Communists often prefer to work through small elite groups and often have proved that a small parliamentary minority can succeed in a "wrecking operation."

The report, frankly calling its figures unreliable, said a "vast network" of Communist parties "feeds and is fed by a tremendous variety of national and international mass organizations."

"Within less than four decades," it reported, however, that the Communists have lost strength heavily in Western Europe; have little influence in central and southern Africa; and are not an important factor in any Latin American country.

Victims Curable

MONTREAL (CP)—A Winnipeg doctor said Friday his findings show there is no basis for the belief of many people that there is little hope for polio victims so acutely ill they require iron lungs.

Dr. J. A. Hildes presented a paper jointly with Dr. A. J. W.

annual meeting of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

He reviewed results in 43 cases of acute poliomyelitis treated by respirator in 1952.

He said 25 recovered normal breathing capacity and of these only three remain otherwise paralyzed. The others have been or are being rehabilitated.

Long Labor To Cure Child Ended in Airline Crash

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—A Hungarian watchmaker's years of efforts to find a cure for his polio-stricken son came to a tragic end in the crash of an airliner near San Francisco Thursday.

Janos Feher and his seven-year-old son, John, both died in the disaster as they flew toward New York and the polio treatment.

Since immigrating to Australia in 1949, Feher had consistently worked hours of overtime daily and had finally sold almost all his possessions to raise money for the specialized New York treatments which he was told were his son's only hope of recovery.

His widow is receiving government aid in making arrangements to fly immediately to the scene of the crash.

Three Die, Five Injured In Smash Near Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Three persons were killed and five injured Thursday night when a 36-wheeled truck, carrying eight persons, crashed into a heavy semi-trailer truck in a four-vehicle smashup one mile south of Edmonton. Two of the injured, Norman Pirie, 30, and Mrs. Norman Pirie, 24, were reported to be in serious condition. The crash occurred when the truck tried to pass a car on an icy highway. The truck "jack-knifed" and rolled over on its side. Killed were Charles Pirie, 62, and Joseph Miller, 42, who were in the car. Injured were Mrs. Harry McInnis, 60, and Joseph Miller, 42, who were in the car. Also of Watson Lake. Injured were Mrs. Harry McInnis, 60, and Joseph Miller, 42, who were in the car.

Westminster Abbey To Resume Services

LONDON (Reuters) — Westminster Abbey will re-open for divine services on Sunday, after what is believed to be the longest period it has ever been closed for public worship in its 1,000-year history. The historic Abbey was closed at the start of this year to begin the long task of preparing the Coronation. A ship traveling 30 knots covers the equivalent of 34 1/2 miles an hour. The public to view the fabulous land miles an hour.

Drivers Dispute Action

Demotion Closes Plant

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union-management dispute over demotion of a truck driver resulted in 300 men being idle here Friday at the Burns and Company, Ltd., packing plant. The dispute arose over the demotion Tuesday of a trucker, who was not identified. Plant manager J. M. McConnan said the man was demoted to swamper because "we did not have the job." Mr. McConnan said other drivers refused to move their trucks Wednesday and Thursday "so we advised most of the plant workers to go home." Mr. McConnan said some workers were told there was sufficient work for them to continue but "after discussion."

Daily Colonist Victoria, B.C., Sat., Oct. 31, 1953 7

among themselves everybody thought the demoted man "was going home." Bill Symington, representative of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.), said the workers had been locked out. He said other truckers thought the demoted man "was being discriminated against." Union officials said the driver was demoted because he knocked down a parking meter and lost a sum of money. They said the driver offered to repay the money.

Bird Hunters Hope For Rough Weather

BY DOUG PEDEN

It looks as if bird hunters are going to find slim pickings for the next few weeks. Or at least until colder, rougher weather chases the main duck flights down from the North.

Results in the first week of shooting on cock pheasants and ducks has been disappointing for most gunners. The pheasants just weren't around in the numbers expected and calm, mild weather has made it tough on duck hunters.

Chances of roosters which survived the first barrage on opening day, headed for heavy cover and will probably be hard to get at for the remainder of the season. Central and North Saanich especially, produced very few pheasants and it was California quail, which go out of season tonight along with blue grouse, which saved the day for many nimrods in those areas.

One can't help wondering if changes in farming habits in recent years could be one reason birds are less numerous and more anxious to avoid the fields once shooting starts.

At one time, most farms contained scattered patches of bush and fence rows often provided enough cover to give birds places to nest and somewhere to hide. Now the bush patches are disappearing and fence rows offer very little cover, so pheasants naturally take to the bush when hunters arrive.

Two of us hunting all day Monday near Cobble Hill managed to find a fair number of birds and eventually dropped our two roosters apiece. However, except for a few hens found in the fields, the pheasants were deep in tangled, heavy bush and getting them into the air was a rugged task for the dog. We never saw many of the birds flushed and getting clear shots was a matter of luck.

Noticeable this season has been the small numbers of mallards and pintails observed in this area. Formerly, at the beginning of the season, mallards could be found to some extent in the stubble fields and ditches. The fact that much of the grain lying in stubble fields this year was sprouted by early September rains could be a reason ducks have stayed at the salt-flats and lagoons.

There is no doubt but what there will be some big flights of mallards and pintails arriving with colder weather but it seems possible that our main shooting is going to be with widgeon and the salt-water diving ducks.

Sidney Island Lagoon has been perhaps the most productive spot for ducks on the southern part of Vancouver Island and Cowichan Bay gave up fair shooting at times during the week.

Local sportsmen Bill Johnston and Howard Damaske solved their shooting problems by taking a five-day hunting trip in southern Alberta last week. Although Canada geese hadn't moved that far south, the pair had excellent sport with snow geese and ducks.

Deer hunting has remained good on the island with several large bucks being taken recently. The largest deer reported this season was one bagged by Howard Zaccarelli at Robertson River last Sunday, which dressed out at 178 pounds.

There appears a good possibility that actions by a few hunters may result in Central Saanich being closed to shooting. Reeve Sidney Pickles recently issued a letter to "car hunters" who toured the municipality's roads, shooting pheasants and then trespassing in order to retrieve their birds. Otherwise, hunter-farmer relations were said to be very satisfactory.

Canada Outdoors

They're Hard To Get At But Worth the Trouble

BY DAVE TOCKAND

WINNIPEG (CP)—You don't know too much about sports fishing? Small matter if it's Arctic greyling you're after.

The greyling, a fighting fish of silver beauty, will rise to any lure. Its numbers are countless and it makes a good meal.

The greyling are natives of the north, of the waters flowing into Hudson Bay and the Arctic ocean.

Northern Manitoba is greyling country. The Manitoba government bureau of travel and publicity says the fighting fish with the big dorsal fin are gaining popularity with sportsmen—and gives some of the credit to obstacles thrown up by the land.

"Camping and guiding arrangements must be made well in advance of the actual jaunt into greyling country," the bureau says.

"Most greyling fishermen travel by chartered plane. But some go as far as they can by rail and take to canoes for the rest of their transportation."

"The greyling are there—they're just hard to get at. And if that isn't a challenge to the eager angler, what is?"

HALF-CENTURY HUNTER

Chief Justice E. A. McPherson thus describes the changes which have taken place during the 50 years he hasn't missed an opening day of the duck hunting season on Manitoba's Delta marshes.

"The ducks have decreased considerably in number and the number of hunters has increased."

"When I started shooting the limit was 50 birds a day and the season was longer," recalls the chief justice, who bagged his first duck 59 years ago. "Now the limit is 10 each day and the season is shorter."

Nevertheless, he isn't worried about coming back empty-handed in future shooting seasons. He says: "It's true there aren't as many ducks today as there used to be, but there are still lots of them."

On opening day this year the judge got his limit in about two hours.

Turpin, LaStarza Rated No. 1 Despite Setbacks

NEW YORK (AP)—The recent flurry of action in the middleweight class, including the title scrap between Carl "Bobo" Olson and Randy Turpin, has resulted in an overhaul of the ratings of the 160-pound division by Ring magazine. Only a few minor changes were made in the other weights.

Olson's decisive triumph over Turpin gave the division its first champion since Ray Robinson retired December 18, 1952, and left the title open.

Turpin, of England, was placed in the No. 1 contender's spot, followed by 2. Rocky Castellani, Cleveland; 3. Gil Turner, Philadelphia; 4. Gil Turner, Philadelphia; 5. Joey Glumbar, Buffalo; 6. Ernie Durando, Bayonne, N.J.; 7. Charles Humez, France; 8. Ralph Tiger Jones, Yonkers, N.Y.; 9. Randy Sandy, New York; 10. Garth Panter, Salt Lake City.

Turner, Durando and Panter were not on last month's list, and Giardello was moved up a notch.

Durando rejoined the first 10 by knocking out Humez in the sixth round in Paris. Giardello advanced with a good win over Walter Cartier. Panter climbed into the rankings for the first time by whipping France's Pierre Langlois, who was dropped. Turner, No. 3 welterweight contender a month ago, has been fighting at 153 pounds and was moved into the 160-pound class by Ring editor Nat Fleischer.

Ailing Leahy To Help Irish By Telephone

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Convincing Frank Leahy, as Knute Rockne did against the same team 24 years ago, will give telephonic advice to unbeaten Notre Dame in its sell-out battle with once-defeated Navy today.

Leahy, still bedfast from a stomach spasm which struck him during the Georgia Tech game last Saturday, will talk before the game and at half-time to the Irish captain, end Don Penza, and his senior assistant, Joe McArdle.

In 1929, Notre Dame's squad lined up in the dressing room for individual chats with ailing Rockne, whose call to Baltimore from the Midwest spurred Notre Dame to a 14-7 victory over Navy.

"I was one of those who talked to Rock that day," a feeble-voiced Leahy said at his Long Beach, Ind., home Friday. "It was a thrill I'll never forget. But tomorrow, I'll just say a few words to Don and he can pass them on to his team mates. Naturally, I'll want to talk with coach McArdle."

Gordie Brown WIFU All-Star—Only Six Canadians Selected

Gordon "Porky" Brown, a transplanted Victorian who didn't play football last season, is one of the six Canadians named to the Western Inter-provincial Football Union all-star teams. Brown, who starred with St. Louis College teams when he was named as one of the guards on the defensive team. The ex-Victorian joined the Calgary Stampedeers in 1951 and was named rookie of the year. He saw no action last season but came back this year to become one of the few standouts in a weak line which was mainly responsible for the last-place finish of the Calgary club.

Brown is already en route to Victoria for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, 1905 Fernwood Road. He is expected to arrive either today or tomorrow morning.

Dean Bandiera, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, was named for the other guard position on the defensive team and the third Canadian—was halfback Ray Wilsey, who was born in Canada but who learned all his football in the United States and was imported after playing with University of California.

Winnipeg's Dick Huffman, a tremendous defensive player, was named as one of the guards on the offensive club.

Rounding out the offensive team were ends Bud Grant and Mac Speedie, the top two ends in the National Football League last season. Speedie, long a star with the potent Cleveland Browns, played with the Riders while Grant, who ranked next to Speedie last season as a member of the Philadelphia Eagles, lined up with Bombers.

SUGARFOOT MAKES IT

Frank Anderson, still another of the Edmonton ex-Oklahomans, won one of the end positions on the defensive club. The other went to his namesake, Calgary's veteran "Sugarfoot" Anderson, who came back to have a fine season after getting little pre-season attention.

Golf—Here's How

BY SAM SNEAD

The player pictured here today is sacrificing his all for yardage. Don't do that! Train yourself to think of golf as a game of accuracy and placement rather than of power. Very few golfers could bring that club head back, accurately, to the ball from this position. Could you? Don't try it. Stop your backswing at horizontal. The fun in golf comes from turning in low scores, in your class, and watching yourself whittling away that handicap. School yourself to think of golf as a game of rhythm. Never think of it as a power-house proposition. Soon a great and pleasant fact will dawn on you. This is it: As you increase your rhythm your shots fly farther and straighter. That's a pleasant thought, isn't it? You want to play the very best game you can—as long as you have fun. After that it's work. (Protected 1953, by John E. Dille Co.)

Church Being Built By New Canadians

PORT ALBERNI—A major undertaking in the history of the Port Alberni community is the building of a new church by new Canadians. The church, which will be built on the site of the old St. John's Anglican church, is being built by a group of new Canadians who are engaged in building a church by volunteer labor.

The Christian Reform Church will stand in beautiful surroundings on the bank of Rogers Creek just inside the northern city limits of Port Alberni. The church will be built on a site of about 45 feet by 24 feet, each placed on property recently purchased by the group. Courses Popular In B.C. Centres

Many B.C. communities are showing keen interest in services of the education department's new community program. The program, which is being run by the Ministry of Education, is designed to provide a full range of educational services to the community.

Some 30 school boards are taking advantage of the program's services in the operation of recreational courses in high schools throughout the province. The program is designed to provide a full range of educational services to the community.

Two-Section Convention To Be Held in Victoria

Victoria and the Empire Hotel are considered the ideal setting for a business convention in the opinion of Jon Bout, president of the company. The convention will be held in two sections, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

This view is shared by the Prudential's western home office at Los Angeles, for Victoria is the only spot outside of the U.S. at which the company holds its conferences.

Mr. Bout, along with William G. Haas, the company's travel and conference representative, are at present in Victoria making final arrangements for a Prudential conference that is so big that it is having to be held in two sections.

The first section of the conference will be held November 1 to 1 and the second November 2 to 4. Each will be attended by approximately 500 people, most of them from southern California. Others are drawn from Arizona and New Mexico.

Uncle Wiggily Story - By Howard Garis

BOSEN'S SONG
Jackie and Peetle Row Row with Billie Wagtail were just going aboard Uncle Wiggily's Amusement Raft, tied to the shore of Frog Pond. The two puppy dog boys and their chum, the dog, wanted to prove they were pirates just for fun.

But when they heard a noise as if told by the end of yesterday's story, they were surprised. "What's that?" whispered Peetle.

"A noise," softly bleated Peetle. "What sort of a noise?" Peetle wanted to know.

"Maybe it's more pirates," suggested Jackie. "Quiet, fellows!" exclaimed Peetle. "The Mertyg is bound away. The Mertyg is bound away. The Mertyg is bound away."

The three young pirates hid behind a mulberry bush that grew along the shore of Frog Pond near where Uncle Wiggily's raft was tied to a stump. They looked toward the raft but saw no one. Then they heard a voice singing.

"Ahoy! Belav! I'm going far away! I'll sail the seas and take my ease. And maybe I'll see whatever I please! Ahoy! Belav! I'm going far away! Away! Away!"

"That's Bosen who told old sea dogs," whispered Peetle. "If Bosen is aboard the raft, we can't go on board to practice being pirates," bleated Peetle. "This is bad! What shall we do, Jackie?"

"Wait a moment," whispered the other puppy dog. "I think Bosen is coming off the raft. If he does, we can go aboard and be pirates just as we planned. Quiet now! Listen!"

Episcopal Church of Our Lord in Use Since 1875

City's Oldest Standing Church Marks 79th Year

Victoria's oldest standing Christian church celebrates its 79th anniversary, Sunday.

It is the Episcopal Church of Our Lord which has been in continuous use since the building was opened for public use in 1875.

The church and its founder, the late Bishop Edward Craig, are closely identified with the early church records bear the names of many pioneer families.

Mr. Craig arrived at Fort Victoria, then a Hudson Bay trading post, in 1851 as chaplain for the HBC. He later became Dean of the Cathedral Church of the city.

The meeting in which Dean Craig and the major portion of the Cathedral vestry and congregation decided to withdraw from the jurisdiction of the Anglican Church took place on October 29, 1874.

On July 16, 1876, Dean Craig was consecrated bishop at the Second National Synod in Victoria. Services were held in the old Pandora Street church until the opening of the present building.

The site upon which the church stands was the gift of the lieutenant-governor, Sir James Douglas, as was also the organ now in the church.

From the earliest times the members of the church and its founder were prominent in the Christian work in Victoria and were leaders in establishing such institutions as the Royal Jubilee Hospital and the Protestant Orphanage.

Two services will be held in the morning and evening. The Salvation Army's Evangelistic Team on a country-wide tour of Canada is at present visiting Victoria.

This team, consisting of Major and Mrs. Buxton Pedlar, Captain Evelyn Hammond, and Lieutenant Margaret Macfarlane, may be heard at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the Pandora Avenue Church this Sunday.

In addition, a meeting will be held every week night at 8 p.m. in November 9 with children's meetings at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. on November 2 to 6. A women's rally will be held at 2:30 p.m. November 5.

NO. 271—NINETY-FIFTH YEAR

Police Suspect Juvenile Gang

AROUND TOWN

The work of a gang of juveniles is suspected in a 48-hour series of break-ins in the Greater Victoria area, by police officials.

Fight premises have been entered during the past two days in Saanich and the city, but in each case the loot has been small, police report.

The largest amount of money was taken from the service station of Dick Kosteriva on Douglas where Boleksine and Saanich Roads meet.

About $30 worth of tools and $20 in cash was taken Thursday by thieves who gained entry through a window on the north side of the building.

Only a small hole was made in the window, leading police investigators to believe that boys may be responsible.

A service station at the intersection of Quadra and Reynolds Road, operated by Fred Borden, had also been entered. Only 25 cents was stolen, Saanich police said.

An attempt was made to enter the Canadian Liquid Air Company offices, Douglas, overnight Thursday. A rear window had been jammed, but the burglars did not gain entry.

Thieves did gain entry to the High School Coffee Shop, Fernwood Road, Thursday night, but nothing was stolen, it was reported.

An attempt was made to gain entry to the change boxes on a music machine in the shop.

The method of entry in most cases has been the same as four others on Wednesday night, police said. Total value of loot in the Wednesday entries of stores was $150 in pennies.

About 30 city properties may be sold for taxes if arrears are not paid before 10 a.m. on Monday, according to the city assessor's department.

Taxes are owing on the properties for 1951, 1952 and 1953. Owners may avoid losing their properties by paying at least the 1951 taxes.

During the past few days arrears have been paid on 36 properties originally scheduled for tax sale and it is expected that many of the owners of the remaining properties will pay arrears before the Monday deadline.

Owners have one year in which to redeem properties lost in tax sales by paying the full three years' taxes owing. Tax sale purchasers must wait one year following the tax sale before gaining title to properties purchased.

Forty-five householders and license holders in three Greater Victoria municipalities had registered Friday for municipal voters' lists.

Eighteen declarations were accepted at Saanich municipal hall, 17 in Oak Bay and 10 at Esquimalt.

In Saanich where a $2 service charge exists to householders seeking the right to vote for councilors, 17 such persons had registered. The 18th was a lone license holder.

The service charge is required by a provincial statute where no poll-tax road tax exists.

A collection box in Christ Church Cathedral was forced open and collected about $1.50 some time Tuesday night. Local Col. H. F. Webster, 1842 Wilmut Place, reported to city police Thursday.

First Col. Webster said the cathedral had been left open for bell ringers to enter and leave during the evening.

The Victoria College honor student who received the B.C. Canadian Legion scholarship Wednesday was Elgin Heal.

Police Plan Sharp Vigil

Lively Halloween Good Sign — Maybe

Peace and quiet goes out the but they will accept the old tradition of a good time on Halloween.

On this night when fearsome powers, witches and spells swirl through the darkness the temper of the night is set.

Tradition has it that a lively Halloween ensures a mild winter.

Mild winters or not there has been an unfortunate trend to mischief-making during the past years with the result that law enforcement officers across the country have brought legal fireworks and candy hot dogs and cookies under supervision of parents.

On the property in front of the Oak Bay fire hall on St. Anne Street, the usual department-sponsored fire will be set at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Hot dogs, candy and soft drinks will be served, and the Homeowners' orchestra will be on hand for some entertainment.

The Belmont Park council has organized a Halloween celebration within its own community and about 1,000 children will collect at the mountainous, bonfire on the beach to have some October 31 fun.

Many schools in the city have already given Halloween parties for the children and a few will stage some organized activity on the night itself.

In Victoria, city policemen will keep a wary eye open for too vigorous Halloween pranks with extra patrolmen on the job assisted by volunteers from the Legion of Frontiersmen.

All other municipalities and the unorganized territory will be patrolled constantly, police officials said Friday.

Parks department employees will conduct motorized patrols in city parks to combat vandalism. It was learned Friday from a department official.

In addition, four local motor cyclists have offered to assist parks crews in making patrols of all sections of city parks.

Rain Thursday night and Friday has kept things fairly quiet for policemen up to date, and the general consensus among police officials is that if it keeps up it will be a fairly quiet Halloween.

If it doesn't keep raining, it should be a mild winter.

Leaves Force

INSPI. GEORGE H. CLARK

Well-remembered for his service on Island with old B.C. Police and RCMP is Inspector George H. Clark who has retired after 35 years' service.

Inspector Clark commanded Victoria subdivision for both B.C. force and RCMP from 1917 to March 1951, when he was transferred to Edmonton.

He has been appointed Alberta police magistrate at Jasper Place, adjoining Edmonton.

While the installed machine capacity of the John Hart power development on Campbell River is now sufficient to meet the demand this winter and in the winter of 1954-55, delay in obtaining necessary additional water storage still leaves the island under threat of a shortage.

The commission spokesman said that additional power from one of the two new 28,000-horsepower generating units at the John Hart development was "gobbled up" seven weeks after the generator was placed in service.

Fifth unit at the plant was placed in service September 12 and the sixth was added about four weeks later, giving the plant a total installed capacity of 168,000 turbine horsepower.

RECORDS SET

An all-time high peak load of 140,000 horsepower was recorded last Thursday, representing the full capacity of five of the six units at the plant.

Another record was set Thursday when an all-time high output of 2,000,000 kilowatt-hours was established in a 24-hour period.

The record output occurred in the early evening when the household load is greatest.

Major factors in the load increase, according to the commission spokesman, were the additional domestic and commercial requirements which are normal at this time of year, and increased demands by the B.C. Electric Company for its Greater Victoria customers, and by MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. for its pulp mill near Nanaimo.

Electricity for the pulp mill near Nanaimo, guaranteed to employees.

A resolution asking for the amendment, presented by the city of Vancouver, was unanimously adopted at the annual convention of the Union of B.C. municipalities here.

The move does not mean that all the municipalities favor the Saturday shopping week, but would give any municipality the power to hold a plebiscite on the longer shopping week.

The request added a rider asking that if the six-day week is allowed a 40-hour week be guaranteed to employees.

Ald. Brent Murdoch suggested such a change might open the door to other employees, directly or indirectly under the municipalities, running for council.

Another delegate suggested that a person can't be both employee and employer.

TAX CUT SUPPORTED

The delegates also supported a resolution asking for a reduction of amusement tax from 17 1/2 to 5 per cent on municipal share of receipts from shows sponsored by commissions or parks boards operating arenas.

A Victoria resolution on the same subject was withdrawn in favor of a more aptly worded one submitted by Trail.

The convention defeated a resolution from Alberni which would make it compulsory for wherever employed.

CHARGE MADE

One delegate charged that an outsider who worked for one of the ministers during the 1952 election campaign was given a job in the public works department over the man in line for the position.

Mr. Black said the government was paying fair salaries and a Valley and provincial authority is continually being asked to pay for the matter by the civil service commission.

In regard to charges of "padding" in certain government departments, Mr. Black said that the government was paying fair salaries and a Valley and provincial authority is continually being asked to pay for the matter by the civil service commission.

Robert Allen, 31, was sentenced to the term on a charge of indecent assault, to which he pleaded guilty.

He was also sentenced to one year at hard labor after being found guilty by a 12-man jury of common assault.

Sentences will be concurrent.

GIRL INVOLVED

The charge for which he was given two years involved a 13-year-old girl. The second charge involved three teen-age girls.

Psychiatric treatment for the prisoner was urged by Crown Prosecutor W. H. M. Haldane, Q.C. and Mr. Justice Wood.

Four character witnesses testified on behalf of Allen of his previous good character.

Allen is married and has a nine-year-old daughter.

DRAWING HELPED

Saanich police, who arrested Allen, said their investigations had been assisted by the cooperation of the Colonist in printing a composite drawing of the wanted man last July.

Constables Robin Stewart and Robert Adrian thought up the idea of the drawing and they asked Colonist contributor Mort Graham to draw a composite face view of the molester from the descriptions given by the girls.

Shortage Of Power Feared

Vancouver Island still faces the threat of a power shortage next winter unless favorable precipitation and run-off conditions occur, a spokesman for the B.C. Power Commission said Friday.

While the installed machine capacity of the John Hart power development on Campbell River is now sufficient to meet the demand this winter and in the winter of 1954-55, delay in obtaining necessary additional water storage still leaves the island under threat of a shortage.

The commission spokesman said that additional power from one of the two new 28,000-horsepower generating units at the John Hart development was "gobbled up" seven weeks after the generator was placed in service.

Electric Company for its Greater Victoria customers, and by MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. for its pulp mill near Nanaimo.

Electricity for the pulp mill near Nanaimo, guaranteed to employees.

A resolution asking for the amendment, presented by the city of Vancouver, was unanimously adopted at the annual convention of the Union of B.C. municipalities here.

The move does not mean that all the municipalities favor the Saturday shopping week, but would give any municipality the power to hold a plebiscite on the longer shopping week.

The request added a rider asking that if the six-day week is allowed a 40-hour week be guaranteed to employees.

Ald. Brent Murdoch suggested such a change might open the door to other employees, directly or indirectly under the municipalities, running for council.

Another delegate suggested that a person can't be both employee and employer.

TAX CUT SUPPORTED

The delegates also supported a resolution asking for a reduction of amusement tax from 17 1/2 to 5 per cent on municipal share of receipts from shows sponsored by commissions or parks boards operating arenas.

A Victoria resolution on the same subject was withdrawn in favor of a more aptly worded one submitted by Trail.

The convention defeated a resolution from Alberni which would make it compulsory for wherever employed.

CHARGE MADE

One delegate charged that an outsider who worked for one of the ministers during the 1952 election campaign was given a job in the public works department over the man in line for the position.

Mr. Black said the government was paying fair salaries and a Valley and provincial authority is continually being asked to pay for the matter by the civil service commission.

In regard to charges of "padding" in certain government departments, Mr. Black said that the government was paying fair salaries and a Valley and provincial authority is continually being asked to pay for the matter by the civil service commission.

Robert Allen, 31, was sentenced to the term on a charge of indecent assault, to which he pleaded guilty.

He was also sentenced to one year at hard labor after being found guilty by a 12-man jury of common assault.

Sentences will be concurrent.

GIRL INVOLVED

The charge for which he was given two years involved a 13-year-old girl. The second charge involved three teen-age girls.

Psychiatric treatment for the prisoner was urged by Crown Prosecutor W. H. M. Haldane, Q.C. and Mr. Justice Wood.

Four character witnesses testified on behalf of Allen of his previous good character.

Allen is married and has a nine-year-old daughter.

DRAWING HELPED

Saanich police, who arrested Allen, said their investigations had been assisted by the cooperation of the Colonist in printing a composite drawing of the wanted man last July.

Constables Robin Stewart and Robert Adrian thought up the idea of the drawing and they asked Colonist contributor Mort Graham to draw a composite face view of the molester from the descriptions given by the girls.

Sketch Shows Proposed Sunday School

Architect's sketch shows plan for the new St. Mary's Sunday school and hall to be built on the corner of Eastdowne and Neil Streets. The main floor will seat 250 people and the lower floor, which is not shown in sketch, will provide ample classrooms for a large Sunday school. Sanctuary is provided at east end for church services. The plans are complete and the building will be started as soon as further funds are available.

U.S. To Send Famine Relief

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The United States will send 100,000 tons of wheat to famine-stricken areas next month to combat famine conditions there, the state department announced Friday.

President Eisenhower recently said a press conference that American was eligible for surplus food aid under the Famine Relief Act passed by Congress last year.

A year ending September United States wheat production at new high total 5,972,000,000 bushels, 25,380,000 pounds and 1,621,000 pounds per acre.

New Mace on Order For B.C. Legislature

A new mace has been ordered for the B.C. legislature and may be ready for use during the spring session of the legislature.

It will replace the present mace which has been in use since the Legislative Buildings were opened in 1918.

This mace, one of five which have been used down through history by the governments of Vancouver Island and British Columbia, is outdated and is beginning to show signs of age.

MADE IN CHICAGO

It was made by Winslow Brothers, a firm of art metal workers in Chicago, when the government of the day felt that a new mace would be more keeping with the dignity of the new Legislative Buildings.

The mace is the symbol of authority of the speaker of the legislature.

The first mace was fashioned for the use of the Legislative Assembly of Vancouver Island in 1856.

A makeshift mace was prepared when the Mainland colony of British Columbia was instituted at Fort Langley on November 19, 1858.

A new mace was used at the first session of the Legislative Council of the Mainland colony, which was formally opened by Governor James Douglas at New Westminster on January 21, 1864.

The mace used by this body continued to be used, following the union of the Island and Mainland colonies in 1866, until the colony became a province of the Dominion of Canada.

B.C.'s fourth mace appeared at the opening of the first session of the first parliament of B.C. following Confederation on February 17, 1872.

The second and fourth maces are now in the provincial archives. The first one was presented some years ago to the Shawnigan Lake Boys' School. The fifth mace is not known.

Victorian's Nephew Victim in Crash

Mrs. E. R. Patrick, 593 Victoria Avenue, received word Friday that her nephew was killed in the crash of a British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane Thursday at San Francisco.

Charles Catnach, 32 of Sydney, Australia, was killed in the crash of the plane which crashed two minutes from its scheduled landing at San Francisco.

Mr. Catnach, who was born in Port Arthur, Ont. is survived by his wife and four-year-old son.

Mrs. Patrick said her nephew has been on the flight linking Sydney, San Francisco and Vancouver for the past three years and had visited Victoria on several occasions during that time.

London reviewers weren't aware of this "earthy" aspect, though, when the "Moon" first opened here in July.

They thought the play, plus Dr. Kinsey, proved the United States was becoming obsessed with sex.

But after they had emptied their minds on this subject, the critics began advising their readers to go away.

In fact, the allegedly "blue" Moon Is Blue was even washed by the Reds when the Communist Daily Worker began discreetly advising its readers to see it.

And the Totem co-producers, Thor Arngim and Stuart Baker, emphasized that the product of the talented F. Hugh Herbert pen will be played honestly during its Victoria run.

"It's a charming, charming thing," said Mr. Arngim, who, by the way, plays the main lead—the wealthy young architect who picks up the girl atop the Empire State Building.

"Actually it's a presentation of everyday life—sophisticated and cosmopolitan to a certain degree, yes, but honest and down to earth—not earthy."

Revisions Expected In Formula

The government's controversial Rolston Formula covering education costs may be revised before presentation to the legislature again, it was learned Friday.

The government is understood to be considering chief objections to the formula and there is speculation it may not be reintroduced to the house until 1955.

One of the chief objections to the formula is that it permits the government to retain proceeds from the three per cent sales tax, depriving the municipalities of their one-third share of about $11,000,000.

Bonner Says Land Repurchase Important Factor

Steps Taken to End Sect. Problem Reviewed

Attorney General R. W. Bonner outlined Friday his members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce the steps the B.C. government was taking in the hope of solving the Sons of Freedom problem.

One of the most important of these was the attempt by the government to make possible the repurchase of former Doukhobor lands currently held by the provincial government.

Mr. Bonner explained that the great difficulty was to find out to whom the lands should be restored. They had been taken over by the government in 1937 when the Doukhobor Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood went broke.

The brotherhood had about 2,000 paid-up members at that time, and it is difficult to trace them all," he said. A commission to deal with this difficulty has been set up by the government.

Together with the extension of the franchise and the recognition of Doukhobor marriages, might in the opinion of the attorney-general, do something toward the solution of what he called "the most interesting sociological problem of all time."

The attorney-general gave a resume of the Doukhobor history from its turbulent generations of terror in Russia down to the present situation.

Mr. Bonner believed that the troublesome section, now numbering only a little more than 2,000, was gradually reducing, and that many Sons were now excellent citizens.

"There are many of them in Vancouver and more than 500 in Trail alone. They make excellent citizens," he said.

ONLY PRETENSE

"Too many of them make a pretense of virtue," said the Totem star. "They should try meeting life honestly, like Patty does in the play—after all, she got her man, and retained her virtue in the process, what's more."

To those who have been looking forward to a "dirty" play, Mr. Baker, who directs the coming play, has this to say: "There is nothing crude about it whatever. It's along the lines of something by Shaw or Chekhov. 'Castle in the Air' was twice as risqué," he added.

In giving the Victoria chamber a resume of the government's activities, Mr. Bonner referred to the new right of the motor vehicle superintendent to suspend driving licenses.

"Not everyone may know, however, that the public has right of appeal to the county court against suspensions imposed by the superintendent," he said.

DEFENDS LIQUOR TAX

On the liquor question, Mr. Bonner defended the imposition of the 10 per cent tax on liquor sold by the glass.

"Half of this money will go to municipalities who badly need it, and it will be of immediate help to those bodies until the new arrangements with the government on schools and other cases are completed," he said.

North Koreans Get Violent With Communist Explainers

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Kick-faced Communist persuaders in the North Korean war zone today expressed their anger at the Red's explanation of the Korean peninsula.

Retaliation Fear Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials Friday expressed hope that Canada will make no move to retaliate against U.S. airlines because of Canadian dissatisfaction with the TCA through flights to Mexico by way of Florida.

Victoria Host To UBCM Next Year

By Colonist Staff Reporter
VANCOUVER—Victoria will be the host city for the 1954 Union of B.C. Municipalities convention.

An invitation from Reeve Joseph Casey, speaking on behalf of the Vancouver Island Association of Municipalities which will sponsor the meeting was accepted unanimously by the delegates Friday afternoon. The 300 B.C. municipal delegates wound up the 1953 convention here Friday with a tour of the Cleveland dam at the invitation of the Greater Vancouver Water District.

Ontario Refit Transferred

The annual refit of the cruiser Ontario, usually carried out at HMCS Dockyard, without explanation began Friday at Yarrow.

Parley Called Monday

VANCOUVER (CP)—A full meeting of the more than 1,100 Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island electrical workers involved in a wage dispute with the B.C. Electric Co. has been called for Monday.

That was all that was revealed late Friday following a meeting between George Gee, business manager of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and officials of the company.

Mr. Gee would not say why the meeting was called or what would be discussed there. The action followed a statement by Mr. Gee earlier Friday, when he said "the situation definitely looks hopeful."

Union members have voted in a government-supervised ballot to strike to back up their demands for a 10 per cent pay increase and fringe benefits. Setting of a strike deadline has been left with the union's steering committee.

United Rebels Feared

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—Two outlaws, republican armies seeking to smash Britain's hold on Scotland and Northern Ireland may have joined forces, police said Friday.

They said there is mounting evidence that the comparatively new Scottish Republican Army has thrown in its lot with the veteran Irish Republican Army for a joint campaign.

"The IRA has guns and ammunition," a police spokesman said. "It is a definite danger. We are watching every move it makes, and when the time is suitable, we will move."

Police officials here and in London declined speculation on the size of the two armies, but conceded they are both building up their forces through recruiting drives and raids on British arsenals.

The IRA, which fought British troops during and after the First World War, is pledged to wrest Northern Ireland from Britain and bring it into the Irish Republic.

Existence of the SRA—denounced by moderate Scottish Nationalists—has been reported only in the last year. It aims at complete self-government for Scotland.

At the time of the Coronation, the Scottish republicans bombed stores and mail boxes and sent threatening letters to public figures.

There have been too many delays and I am not tolerating further delays," the mayor's ire was aroused after the union ignored his summons to city hall Friday morning. Company negotiators alone showed up. Both sides have been stalling off Impellitteri since Wednesday in his request for city-supervised peace talks.

Both groups came quietly to the mayor's threat to have police haul them in and lock them up.

Hubert Wallace, president of Yarrow, who returned from a trip to Ottawa Friday, disclaimed any connection between his trip and the work switch. He was unavailable for later comment Friday night.

One naval officer, who asked to remain unidentified, said he "cannot understand why the move was made," adding that "Dockyard has all the equipment needed to carry out the refit, and has done the job before."

The same officer said that much of the work already done on the Ontario is wasted because some of the machinery removed from the ship will have to be re-installed before it can be moved.

Layoffs will begin today at Dockyard, said the spokesman there, and will continue until 120, "at the least," are out of jobs.

These six pensive-looking American cocker spaniels will be shown by Miss Dorothy Punderson, Elan Centre, near Duncan, at the championship show of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, to be held November 6 and 7 at Athletic Hall, Fraser Street, Esquimalt. Show highlight will be the first appearance of the Chinese crested dog. Many outstanding entries are expected. Judges will be Robert Waters of Haney B.C., and Mrs. A. W. Forbes of Tacoma.

The guards also had to drag some of the prisoners into the explanation booths.

The guards carried clubs, but didn't use them.

The prisoners had apparently planned their actions in advance.

They entered the explanation area without much resistance, but as soon as they saw Communist officers they burst forth with violence.

They shouted: "You running dogs of Communism!" "You Chinese foreign gooks!" An Indian officer said guard troops expected "a little violence" but not "so much hostility at the explainers."

One prisoner threw a chair at three North Korean explainers and hit two of them on the head. An Indian officer ordered the prisoner to leave.

Accidents Multiply

One man was killed and a woman passenger seriously injured when a late-model sedan skidded off the road into a power pole just north of Ladysmith Friday afternoon.

Driving rain and greasy streets caused a rash of accidents in and around Victoria during the evening, giving police officers their busiest night so far this year.

Dead at Ladysmith is Arthur Jay Brouse, 30, of Alert Bay. Injured were W. Coull, about 35, driver of the car, who suffered abrasions and shock, and Irene Coull, his wife, who received fractured arms and legs.

Mr. and Mrs. Coull are from Campbell River.

RCMP say the car, traveling south, skidded on the wet road way at the junction of Cassidy and North Oyster Roads, 3½ miles north of Ladysmith.

The vehicle careened off the road and wrapped itself around a power pole, killing Mr. Brouse instantly.

Witnesses said the car was bent into a V-shape by the impact.

Ambulance driver Joe Grouhel, Jr. who took the injured to Ladysmith Hospital, described the car as "a total wreck."

Mr. Brouse was trapped between the half-opened door and the power pole.

Police said a Diamond Taxi driven by Charles William Gibson, 52 Sooke Road, was in collision with the rear of a car driven by Raymond Sparks, 263 Finlayson.

This car smashed into the rear of one being driven by Alice Patricia Jeeves, 1131 Lockley Road, whose car was banged into another driven by Rowland Clark, 994 Jasmine Avenue, which in turn was shoved into the rear of the vehicle being driven by Jack Daves, 1437 Taunton Road.

Damage to all of the cars was termed "extensive."

A passenger in the taxi, William McD. Stewart, received face lacerations.

An elderly woman suffered a hip fracture in a collision with an automobile at Fort and Stanley at 5:45 p.m.

She was Mabel D. Webb, 73, who was crossing Fort at the time. Driver of the car was Richard K. Willis of 659 Mount Joy Avenue.

Pacific Western Airlines said Friday it will seek unrestricted schedule rights into the Kitimat district when it appears before the board here November 25.

The rival Queen Charlotte Airlines has announced it will seek exclusive rights to carry passengers and freight into the area.

Russ Baker, PWA general manager, said the board's "restrictive" policies had cost his company $500,000 in two years and disrupted work schedules on the aluminum project.

Roy Sproat, personnel director of Morrison-Knudsen, contractor on the big Alcan project, confirmed that the one-flight-a-day schedule of PWA had resulted in loss to his company.

Mr. Baker said the Air Transport Board had "bucked, twisted and turned" in efforts to prevent his company "going all-out."

He said the board had shown preference for Queen Charlotte Airlines.

Royal Visit Strengthens Ties

King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece are seen above waving to admirers as they arrived in New York aboard the S.S. United States to begin a four-week tour of the U.S. They will be guests of President and Mrs. Eisenhower at the White House in Washington before starting their trip around the country, which is seen as one of good will. On friendly terms with the U.S. for some time, Greece recently strengthened ties by granting U.S. the right to use her naval and air bases.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Chest Total Past $167,000

The Community Chest drive has gone over the $167,000 mark, Courtney Haddock, Chest chairman, said Friday.

"We are anxious to get Victoria on top right across the Dominion in the Community Chest drive," he said.

"Let every citizen re-examine his heart and his pocket book to see if he has given enough."
